However, if you decide to take bookings you need to find a way to reserve pitches and decide if you want to have deposits or have cancellation fees.

Need to consider if want to take bookings by telephone/email or a website booking system.

Payment

Payments can span from an honesty box, to you collecting the fees in person or digital means.

Top Tips for Crofters and Common Grazings Considering Setting up a Caravan Site

This is funded by the Universities Innovation Fund

Introduction

The Crofting counties have seen an increase in caravan and motorhome visitors. Is this an opportunity for your croft or common grazing?

This leaflet goes through practical things to consider, to help you decide if you want to diversify and what preparations you may need.

Planning

Depending on the scale of your caravan park then various planning restrictions apply.

A good guide is 'Airigh – Highland Motorhome Stopover Sites'.

There are exemptions for parking for up to 3 vehicles and if you provide parking for up to 5 vehicles you can apply to be classed as a 'certified location' via a club.

If you want a bigger site you need full planning.

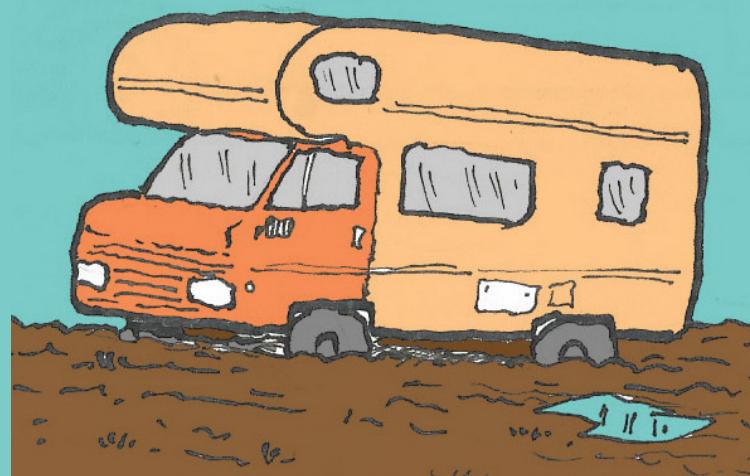

Siting

There are a variety of sites possible from a well drained field to a bespoke hardstanding. Consider if you have the skills/equipment to help bogged motorhomes also consider that many motorhomes can be more expensive than croft tractors!

How expensive would it be to get water on the site?

If you want to provide Electrical Hook Ups (EHUS) your location will impact on the cost of an electricity connection.

Visitors enjoy a view and peace and quiet but also want to be close to amenities. If far from shops could you consider a farm vending machine on your site. If the site is on a working croft make sure you tell visitors your story as it will enrich their experience.

Waste Disposal

This is the most difficult aspect to plan.

If you are near waste disposal facilities you can operate a site with no waste facilities but this is probably not very common.

If your site is on the mains sewage this could make disposal systems easier to install. Please note that most chemicals used are not compatible with septic tanks.

Therefore, if you do need to install a waste tank you will need to calculate the costs of regular emptying.

There are eco-friendly chemicals that are safe for septic tanks but the industry would need to move before this is viable in the future.
